

'SAVAGES' VALUE MORALS HIGHLY FOWZER SAYS

Traveler Tells Club African Natives Are Gentle and Peaceable

"Although the natives in the interior of Africa do not wear clothes their standard of morality is much higher than that of many more civilized countries," Dr. L. R. Fowzer, noted African traveler said in a talk before the Lions club at its meeting at Conway hotel Monday noon.

Dr. Fowzer was assigned to the Protestant Episcopal mission on the west coast of Africa and he went into the interior of Africa to obtain pathological and bacteriological specimens of sleeping sickness and other African diseases for the Rockefeller foundation.

"Although there are only about 20 white people in the interior of Africa for 800 miles north to 800 miles south of the equator," said the doctor, "I found the natives very gentle and peaceable and was never in danger."

He discussed the social relations of the natives and said that it was not uncommon for a single man to have from 100 to 125 wives. He told how a woman, if she was the only wife of a man, would see him in the native custom to compel him to acquire more "better halves" so that she would not have to work so hard. He emphasized that the natives are very clean. Their homes, their bodies and even their finger nails were kept clean, as well as their hearts and minds, he said.

The following committees have been appointed by the club president, Dr. E. E. Beck:

Neon Meeting Committee — Herb Holm, chairman, F. W. Clippinger, Earl L. Baker; Civic Committee, W. G. Commert, chairman, Jos. Plank, W. L. Crow; Educational Committee, A. G. Meating, chairman, George Dame, Ben. Rohan; Evening Meeting Committee, Wm. C. Jacobson, chairman, W. H. Dulack, Henry Scheel; Publicity Committee, J. N. Fisher, chairman, J. R. Whitman, F. W. TWO MOTORISTS PAY FINES IN COURT HERE

Two motorists appeared in municipal court Tuesday morning and pleaded guilty to charges brought against them. Maynard Streeter, Kaukauna, was arrested Monday by Andrew Miller, for driving with the muffler of his automobile open on highway 15 in the town of Vandenberg. Streeter paid a fine of $10 and costs of $3.00.

'7 SHEEP ARE KILLED BY TWO STRAY DOGS

Action against the owners of two dogs which killed 17 sheep on the Frank Young farm in Deer Creek Sunday night is promised by town authorities. It was stated by them Monday. Seventeen sheep also are missing, but it is believed by the owner that the majority of this number will be located. They are probably hiding in fields and woods, having been frightened there by the dogs, according to Mr. Young.

Oldest Graduates Miss Their First Commencement

Sixty-nine years ago, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Colman of Milwaukee received college degrees with the first class to be graduated from Lawrence college, then called university. They are the only living members of the class of 1857.

Mr. and Mrs. Colman attended commencement exercises at the college every year since graduation but were unable to attend the exercises this year because of their old age. Mr. Colman is 92 and his wife is 91. Dr. Colman's father was one of three to pick the site for Lawrence college and was an original trustee of the college. A special message and greetings from the alumni were sent out at the alumni banquet Saturday evening at First Methodist church to Dr. and Mrs. Colman.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Houghton of Wauwatosa celebrated their fiftieth anniversary graduation from Lawrence at the exercises this year. Fifty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Houghton were graduated as valedictorian and salutatorian of their class. The degree of Master of Arts were given the couple Monday morning.

spoon cold water, 2 tablespoons melted fat, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 well beaten egg, 2½ cups of flour, 2 tea spoonful baking powder, 1 tea spoon salt. Dissolve the soda in the cold water. To the well beaten egg add the cream, sugar, salt and fat. Mix the mixture. Beat thoroughly. Bake in muffin pans at a temperature of 350 degrees fifteen to twenty minutes. Bread is less frequently baked well than almost any other product for the reason perhaps that the yeast making of the principle factors in bread making is not understood. It should be, bread is baked to check the growth of the yeast plant as well as to cook the starch of the grain and to disseminate the alcohol formed by fermentation. The taking should be very thorough. If not, the fermentation is very apt to continue in the stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ills. To check the growth of this yeast plant, we require 212° temperature but it must be remembered to attain this 212° degrees in the center of the loaf, the oven's heat must be many degrees higher. Hard wheat flour which is made from spring wheat and contains a high percentage of gluten is best for bread making. Winter, or soft wheat flour is used when a lighter, more flaky crust is desired. Cool loaves without steaming. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. These are some of the excellent recipes that will be given by Mrs. Hunt at the cooking school on Wednesday.

All those are planning to enter in the pie and cake baking contest which will be given in connection with the school are urged to attend the sessions as Mrs. Hunt will give many valuable suggestions on pie and cake baking at each session. Prizes valued at $250 will be given to winners in the contest. Besides covering the regular program each day, Mrs. Hunt will explain and show how to serve a meal when it is prepared. Many hints on table etiquette will be given. There will be no charges for attending the school. All women and girls of the city are invited to attend the school and take part in the cooking contest. Questions which women attending the school wish to have answered may be written on a leaf which will be found on the program.

SUMMER BIBLE SCHOOL BEGINS

About 55 Children Attend Opening Session at First Congregational Church

Approximately 55 students attended the opening session of the Daily Vacation Bible school at First Congregational church Monday morning. It is expected that the enrollment will reach 100 by the end of the week. Owing to illness, Miss Mary B. Stevens, who was to have charge of the school was not able to be at work Monday but it is expected that she will be on duty first part of next week.

The school is open to all children in the primary and junior departments of the Sunday school or all children between the ages of 6 and 12. The school is to be in session four weeks.

School work will consist of graded worship periods and story hours, with the teachers and the children telling Bible and missionary stories. Hymn interpretation will also be studied. Handwork periods are among the features of the school. This work will include the making of jigsaw toys, sewing, basketry, making dolls, scrap books, blotters and maps. Supervised play and dramatization of Bible stories also will be a part of the school work. Swimming classes for students will be conducted at the Y. M. C. A. every week to enable the children to study various subjects close at hand.

MOOSE SPEAKER NOTED EDUCATOR

Frank R. Lutz Sent to Philippines to Establish School System

Frank R. Lutz, of Wapakoneta, O., special representative of the Loyal Order of Moose, who is to speak at the Moose hall Tuesday evening, is an educator of international reputation. Mr. Lutz was sent to the Philippines by the United States government to help establish the American school system there.

He is the author of seven school text books, five of which are in use in the schools of the Philippines. Mr. Lutz has been doing special work for the Moose lodge in the eastern states until recently when he was brought west to speak before several lodges in this vicinity. He spent weeks at Mooseheart making an intensive study of several new projects which have been adopted there.

MISTAKE DINNER PARTY FOR KLAN CELEBRATION

What was believed to be a celebration by the Ku Klux Klan off highway 15 between here and Neenah Sunday night turned out to be a dinner party and dance at a cottage located near the highway. Andrew and Norman Hoffensperger of this city were the hosts, and the guests numbered about twenty. Red lights, strung about the grounds for decoration, resulted in the reported Klan celebration.

nominated but that he would be the first to support him for the nomination. If Mr. Coolidge did wish to choose a successor after the picking of President Roosevelt who named his secretary of war, William Howard Taft, there would be a strong disposition on his part to select either Mr. Hughes or Mr. Hoover. He thinks both are worthy of presidential responsibilities.

The aggressive friends of these men have been talking about their respective views on an idea to 1928 and occasionally reports of political activity have reached the White House but the conviction has been ingrained that such activity is without the sanction of either of the men whose names are being used in the discussions.

LOWDEN'S FRIENDS ACTIVE

Mr. Lowden's friends are at the moment most active. They feel he should run no matter what Mr. Coolidge may indicate as his wish. The issue of farm relief brought the decision.

Vice President Dawes sees possibilities in the farm issue, too. The man who sits on the rearmost presidencies over senatorial debate does not have an opportunity to get down on the door and express his views. And if he leaves Washington to make a speech elsewhere there might be a tie vote or something to emphasize an undesired absence. Yet Mr. Dawes has found a novel way to disclose his views. Senator Watson, of Indiana, read into the congressional record the text of letters exchanged between Mr. Dawes and agricultural economists on farm relief. These letters show that Mr. Dawes has publicly split with the White House on the farm issue. For the moment Senator Watson is allied with the vice-president but that's a temporary alliance due to the fact that Mr. Watson is anxious to do all he can to convince Indiana farmers before the elections next autumn that he is not allowing the farm problems to slumber.

Mr. Dawes is perhaps the most spectacular of all the candidates and if he leaves the vice-presidency to get into the race a few months ahead of convention time his methods will be

CROSS SPEAKS AT CHILDREN'S DAY PROGRAM

F. J. Harwood Offers Cup to School Doing Best Work at Congregational Program

A short message on "Children's Day" was delivered by C. W. Cross of the high school faculty at a special Children's day service at First Congregational church Sunday morning. An organ prelude was played by L. Yahn Maesch and Miss Barbara Timme presented the prolog, "The Spirit of Children's Day."

Members of the cradle roll were awarded diplomas. The beginner's class presented the dramatization of the story of "The Good Samaritan."

reminiscent of the Rooseveltian school to which he belongs.

Mr. Borah has shown what could be done with the prohibition issue. So to date the men who are being mentioned by the Republicans for the presidency are concentrating on the issues which they think are not being successfully handled by the White House. Even as early as this, the effect of such political diagnosis is visible to the maneuverers of individual members of congress who come from sections of the country where opposition to the president's program is apparent.

On top of this is the friction inside the republican party where the usual disappointments due to patronage quarrels have left scars. The state and county organizations are not definitely committed to Mr. Coolidge for 1928. That's why some of the candidates are eager to allow it to be known that there may be others in the race and that prospective delegates need not close their minds too soon.

Mr. Coolidge's chief obstacle will be the idea that no man should serve more than eight years. If he should be elected in 1928, he could if he desired indicate in advance that he did not intend to serve beyond the eighth year which would at least make the race for the vice-presidential nomination an interesting affair.

Children of the primary department gave, "The First Children's Day." A paper written by Miss Wilhelmina Meyers of the intermediate department on "Why we should help the boys and girls in other parts of this country to have a church school, won first place in a contest conducted for the pupils of that department. The winning essay was read by Miss Ruth Owen.

A new contest was opened among the Congregational Sunday schools of the state when the Harwood cup was presented by Lacey Horton at this program. This cup is donated by the school of the First Congregational church of Appleton to the Wisconsin conference to be awarded to the church school showing the greatest improvement in its work during the year, measured by the Pilgrim's Standards. The cup is given in honor of F. J. Harwood of Appleton, moderator of Congregational Churches of the United States. It is to be known as the Harwood cup. The conference also presents another cup during the year known as the Dr. Beale cup, which was presented by the Congregational church of Racine, and is awarded to the school showing the greatest increases in efficiency during the year, according to Pilgrim's Standards. This cup was won by the local school the first year it was given. However only larger schools have a chance to win this cup and for this reason the new contest has been started. The Harwood cup will be awarded for the first time this summer at the conference meeting when a special committee will decide on the winner.

The Rev. John Lucht of Leader, Canada, visited at the home of his brother, Emil Lucht, 708 N. Eastman-st. Sunday. He is now visiting friends and relatives at Hortonville and New London.

ANOTHER TAX REDUCTION

Secretary Mellon has expressed the opinion that still another cut in federal income taxes will be possible covering the calendar year 1927, payable in 1928, assuming that business conditions during the next fifteen months hold their own. So far as can be discerned at this time, there is no reason to expect a slump; on the contrary, all indications point to increased prosperity and more active commerce and industry for a considerable period of time to come.

This strengthening and upward movement will be emphasized if agriculture is put on a more substantial footing. Thus there is every prospect that the fourth reduction in federal income taxes will be made year after next. We wish as much could be said for the taxpayers of Wisconsin in relation to state taxation. The only prospect the people of this state face is constantly increasing taxes.

According to super-progress, excessive taxation is one of the chief human blessings, and is to be encouraged above everything else. The Blaine administration rails against the administration at Washington. This takes some nerve, in view of the extraordinary showing in economy and efficiency by the latter, whereas at Madison we have only waste, extravagance and a brand of spoils politics that are costly luxuries to the taxpayers.

SCHOLARS OUTLIVE ATHLETES

The athletic tradition is said to be endangered. The ancient and persistent habit of athletes to suppose themselves greatly superior to the bookworm in point of health and physical fitness has received a jolt at the hands of certain statisticians making a comparative study of Princeton University alumni of the class of '75, in which they found that the scholar outlives the athlete on a general average. A similar survey of Bryn Mawr supported this theory and furnished the additional information that none of the members of this class who attained prominent positions took any special interest in athletics.

University men claim that this case against athletics is unfair, but, granting that the athletes of today and of fifty years ago, differ, the injury to health resulting from the strain of the highly competitive athletics of today places the advantage with the class of '75. However, it is not athletics that are at fault, but the present form of athletics. Students of '75 went in more for the spirit of athletics than to enjoy flowing triumphs. Today, victory is coveted at whatever cost, even the cost of broken bones and weakened vital organs.

It is time we returned to the spirit of athletics and devised a form in which all college students could take part—not just a chosen few, with the others taking their exercise in the grandstand. Moreover, experience has shown that in many instances over-muscular development in youth is likely to be a health handicap in later years. It is the man who does not overdo in anything that has the best chance of longevity. A certain amount of exercise and muscular activity all through life is beneficial, but the amount depends upon the individual, his general condition, age, etc. The highly specialized college athletics of today are of questionable physical benefit.

GETTING TOGETHER

Among the many happy signs that industrial relations in America are gradually coming out to a cooperative instead of an antagonistic basis is the growth and success of the Four L-Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen—in the Pacific Northwest lumber industry, which was recently the occasion of a special monograph by the department of labor. This is an organization of the men employed in the lumber mills and logging camps of that region, but instead of being an exclusive organization of employees the employers are also members. The object of the organization is to secure better working and economic conditions for the men without resorting to the crude and costly method of strikes.

The outcome of several years of generally successful cooperation has led to the remarkable result that although the lumber industry of the Northwest is not profitable at present, the proprietors are not talking about wage reductions as a means of cost reduction, and the employees are actually trying to persuade the mill owners to improve the market situation by curtailing production. These facts are set out in a recent editorial in the Four L Lumber News, Portland, Oregon, the official organ of the Four L from which we quote the following:

Five years ago this attitude on the part of the managers would have been most extraordinary. Today it is the normal. Both employers and employees can, we believe, take encouragement from this evidence of growth. Today, we believe, management in our industry is far more conscious of its responsibility to those it employs, and far more willing to protect its employees in their standards than ever before. A new day has come and due credit should be given management for the change in attitude. Management, in our industry, is closer to its workers than it has ever been. It sees, better than ever before, the world through its workers' eyes. It recognizes that management and men are in the same boat, subject to the same dangers and that cooperation, during hard times especially, must begin with all the wage protection management can give. And because management generally has recognized this responsibility and tried to live up to this new obligation, labor in our industry has cooperated in lowering costs. This has been the exchange; management held wages and labor aided management in cost reduction. It has been a fair exchange and an intelligent arrangement.

This move in the lumber industry toward getting together expresses the desires of employers and employees in many other lines. The further we proceed in the development of our social and economic life, the more we are convinced as a nation that peaceful and mutually beneficial relations between labor and capital are entirely possible. Some of our politicians contend that their interests are hopelessly in conflict, and can never be reconciled, but we do not believe this reflects the opinions of intelligent and conscientious members of either group. On the contrary, the tendency in the United States is steadily toward just such experiments as are referred to in this editorial, and their significance lies in the evident purpose to bring about an equitable division of the fruits of ownership, management and labor.

DISCARD WORTHLESS LAWS

Americans, having made a law, are reluctant to admit that it was an error, even though it prove unworkable or even undesirable, and so our statute books are littered up with worthless laws that the people have not had the moral courage to legally discard. When it is plainly demonstrated that laws ought not to be enforced or cannot be enforced because of their unpopularity, the effort to enforce them is relaxed and they gradually fall into disuse and oblivion, to be periodically dragged forth by some fanatic and waved in the face of a startled and incredulous public.

How much better to have the courage to say a law is poor and should never have been made and take the necessary steps to definitely wipe it off the books. If this were done, the existing laws could be kept down to where it would be humanly possible to gain some slight knowledge of the legal regulations and prohibitions that control our actions. An unenforced law weakens the whole legal fabric and all useless statutes should be repealed.

Some people will sit around home without saying a word and then go to the movies and start talking.

It's been years since a modern girl's eyebrows met.

If we want the marriage laws changed, let's let four marry instead of two—so they can play bridge.

A political machine is seldom a labor-saving device.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician And Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

WHY WEAR A SWEATER?

One lecturer or assistant professor tells a class of young freshmen in college (many of them girls) about the "trial marriage" as though that were an institution to be considered seriously. Another professor, lecturing on psychology, tells "em that by introspection an expert (like himself) can detect very slight symptoms, as of a cold coming on, and by willing it away cure himself. Still another yaps in the same college—the main building of which is a present from a patent medicine baron—compares the conservative and the radical parties with the chiropractor and the surgeon; the surgeon, he tells the freshmen, would lop off your leg; the chiropractor would undertake to save it. This is the sort of stuff taught in college today. No wonder men with brains condemn college training for women.

A college sophomore writes that his class has just been "discussing" something I said about exposure. His professor asked why a basketball player warmed up by practice or play, is apt to suffer some sort of respiratory infection or other illness next day if he neglects to put on a sweater or coat during rest periods. The professor insinuates that this is the usual happening even though such a player has not been exposed to the mouth spray of anybody with such an ailment.

The basketball player is not apt to suffer in that way if he neglects to wear a sweater. One scientific fact the professor seems unable to grasp is that the respiratory infections, all of them so far as we know, are specific germ diseases and cannot occur without specific infection. No one carries about with him an assortment of the germs of such diseases. So far as we know, no one carries the germs of any respiratory disease, except an occasional person who has recently had the disease or who is just coming down with it. It is the veriest poppycock to imagine that you or I may harbor in our mouth, nose or throat germs which may under certain circumstances, bring us down with pneumonia, or any other respiratory infection. That notion is a mere quibble which the old fogey doctors and the accidental health authorities like to fall back on, to befog the public, when you pin them down to a definite question.

The basketball player or anyone who gets "warmed up" by work, exercise, whether he sweats or not, is likely to be muscle sore or lame next day if he cools off too suddenly. He is not more likely to contract any disease, however. This is another point about which the old fogies prefer to confuse the layman—presuming the old fogies are themselves clear about it.

Sudden chilling of the arm of a baseball pitcher, let us say, produces a reflex contraction or narrowing of the arterioles in his arm, and that retards or slows down the removal of the accumulated products of combustion from the arm. Too long retained in and about the muscles of the arm, these acid waste products become irritants and cause soreness, lameness or stiffness. This is much more likely to happen to a person not physically trained, not accustomed to vigorous exercise, than it is to the well trained athlete.

The checking of sweat has nothing to do with the muscle lameness just described. If one gets up in a profuse sweat by means of artificial heat, as in a Turkish bath or other hot bath, there is no harm whatever in sudden exposure to cold immediately afterward, for there is no accumulation of combustion products to be dealt with.

An athlete "warmed up" need not resort to a sweater or other covering between periods or after play or practice, if he prefers to go without. He can prevent any lameness or stiffness by resuming mild exercise for a few moments at intervals of a few hours after the game.

COLLEGE GIRLS MUST WORK WAY UP IN BUSINESS

BY CINTHIA GREY

After college, what? The mail brings me letters daily from young girl graduates who are looking for their proper niche in business.

The grey seems to be chiefly for "interesting work" and for work that will pay well, to start.

This bears out the contention of New York's greatest vocational specialist, who said to me the other day, "College girls are the hardest to place of all who come to me. They have training, it is true, but they want too much in the beginning, diplomas to save apprenticeship."

My girl correspondents assure me that they are intelligent enough and well enough trained to take jobs out of the usual run of beginners' work. I believe in college for both girls and boys. But I also think it is a great pity for college to go to young people's heads. These hopeful letters from college girls make me sad. They mean so many tragedies and disappointments ahead.

Perhaps these girls won't believe me when I tell them that the average beginning salary for a college girl is $22 a week—that she must start with the most monotonous routine job and work her way up according to her own ability.

It doesn't make much difference what college she attended, or what her record there was. Business takes nobody's word for anything. The man looking for an employee will use his own judgment of the girls that apply and let them do the rest.

Most business men—especially of the self-made variety—are even slightly prejudiced against college girls. It is after she finds her footing that her college training begins to show up. It shortens the climb for

PLAN FIELD DAY FOR 3 COUNTIES

Cooperative Creamery and Breed Associations to Meet at Amherst

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—The Dairyman's Cooperative Field Day was definitely decided on at the last meeting of the general committee and will be held on the fair grounds at Amherst on Thursday, June 24.

Those on the committee include representatives of the cooperative creameries and breed associations of Waupaca, Portage and Waushara counties. D. E. Burdett, Waupaca, and J. L. Moberg, Amherst, also are members.

The field day promises to be the largest and best ever held in this section of the state. One of the features will be a mock trial of a scrub bull, staged in full accordance with court rules, with a number of leading attorneys handling the case.

A prize speaker is being booked for the occasion. Games and stunts of all kinds will be the attraction for boys and girls.

According to the information given at the last meeting of the committee, it is believed that Guernsey breeders of Waupaca and Portage counties will cooperate with the committee to put on a field day and call it their annual picnic. By doing this all forces will be working for one feature day instead of having a number of smaller picnics.

Dairymen of this and adjoining counties delivering their products to a creamery of cheese factory are asked to put a large cross on their calendar over June 24, the day when all are expected to meet at Amherst and enjoy the day with their fellow dairymen.

Earl Fabricius, who is at Mt. Cleman, Mich., for treatment is reported to be improving in so far as to be able to return to the city the later part of the week.

William Leahy, Fred Davis, James Liner, E. J. LaHac, P. W. Lukes, and Dr. A. C. C. Barry of this city were initiated into the Knights of Columbus at New London on Sunday.

Only a small crowd was brave enough to go out into the rain Sunday to attend the Amherst Fair Association Field Day. It is said the full program was put on in spite of the weather.

Irving P. Lord, who was formerly engaged at attorney at law the city, arrived here from his present home in Los Angeles, Cal., to spend a month with friends and relatives.

PASTOR TAKES CHARGE OF LUTHERAN CHURCH

New London—The Rev. Carl P. Flax-li-num Shuts Out Summer's Stifling Heat!

READ the comment in the column on the right. It is typical of the opinion in which Flax-li-num is held by thousands of home owners.

Built into the side walls and top floor ceiling of a house, this thick material holds back the heat of the sun in summer and keeps the heat inside during the winter. Flax-li-num is a correct insulating material and a practical building material. It is semi-rigid, easy to put in place and stays in place. Made half-inch for walls, full inch for ceilings and roofs. Cuts down your radiation requirements, saves one-third on your coal bill yearly, and makes your home more comfortable.

Send the coupon to the distributor listed below or to the Flax-li-num Insulating Co., St. Paul, Minn., for samples and full details.

LONE WOMAN IN CAST AND WEARS PANTS

With the exception of Leatrice Joy, the entire cast of "Her Second Chance," her new star picture which comes to Fischers Appleton theater next Sunday, is made up entirely of men. Even Miss Joy wears pants during most of the action and she is seen as a tomboy daughter of a school teacher.

Director Paul Sloane selected William Boyd to play opposite the winsome star. Boyd only recently completed the title role in Cecil B. De Mille's "The Volga Boatman." Robert Edeson, Hollywood's outstanding character actor, Walter Long, who leaves the ranks of the villains for a comedy role for that of a Chinese landlady, Richard Carl, Arthur Hoyt, and the two Chinese actors, So Jin and Nambu, all play important parts in "Eve's Leaves," which has a Chinese setting of singular attractiveness at its drawing card.

"Eve's Leaves," which has a Chinese setting of singular attractiveness as its drawing card, marks the entrance of Leatrice Joy into the realm of feature comedies. Jack Jevne, who acted as gag man on "The Black Pirate" for Doug Fairbanks, wrote the continuity. Paul Sloane directed the picture under the personal supervision of Cecil B. DeMille.

"PIGS" Clean, wholesome fun is paramount in "Pigs." John Golden's comic romance of youth, and by the great mass of players who cherish recollections of "Lightnin'." "The First Year," "Thank-U" and "Turn to the Right," it will be enjoyed with the same whole-hearted enthusiasm. "Pigs" makes its bow at the Appleton Theatre tomorrow night, June 9, when the original New York cast, which includes Wallace Ford, Nydia Westman, Madge Granger, May Buckley, Philip Harrison, Una Merkel, Emerson Treacy, Frederick Malcolm and William Cox.

Without revealing the relation of "Pigs" to the plot, curiosity as to appropriateness of the title can be allayed by assurance that it has no reference to ill-bred or gross species of the human race. The fact that nothing so unpleasant has been found in a Golden play should dispel any such suspicion. In this case "Pigs" really are pigs because a litter of juvenile porkers figures prominently in the development of the plot. The authors, Anne Morrison and Patterson McNutt, have made them real important players.

A love story as fragrant as blossoms from an old-fashioned garden provides "Pigs" with its high lights of romance, adventure, humor and gentle pathos. Its principals, Thomas Atkins, Jr., and Mildred Cushing, are adolescent types of the sort that Booth Tarkington created in "Seventeen" and "Clarence"—a boy and a girl in the throes of "puppy love." There are thrills by visions of a wedding, a vine-covered bungalow and a bank account, and right there is where the pigs saunter in. In the unfolding of an ingenious plot the porcine brood are used as a short cut to wealth, much to the surprise of the Atkins family circle. Incidentally, the Atkins family is about as faithful a cross-section of the middle-class home group as the American stage has known—not excepting "The First Year." The author of the latter play, "Frank Craven, has staged "Pigs." "Pigs" will be presented exactly as

It ran for forty-one weeks at the Little Theatre, New York and six months at the Cort Theatre, Chicago.

LEADING ROLE TO ANNA Q. NILSSON

Anna Q. Nilsson has the leading feminine role in "Her Second Chance," a First National release now showing at the Little Theatre, Huntley Gordon plays opposite her.

The story of "Her Second Chance" is taken from the popular novel of the same name by Mrs. Wilson Woodrow. Eve Unsell made the adaptation. In the picture the lovely star is cast as a Kentucky mountain girl, who is wrongfully sent to jail. Her desire for revenge on the judge who sought to mar her youth results in her fabricating a plan to bring him to disgrace. This is dropped, however, when she falls in love with the judge. One of the stirring scenes in the picture is a horse race, in which two of California's speediest racing ponies participate among others. Another scene depicts an indoor swimming party, at which a crowd of revellers take a dip in a hidden back room pool. Lambert Hillier directed, with June Mathis acting as editorial chief. Charlie Murray is cast in a featured comedy role. Others in the cast include Corliss Palmer, Southern beauty Dale Fuller, Sam DeGrasse, Mike Donlin and William J. Kelly.

"THE FIRST YEAR"

It's your own loss if you don't arrange to attend the Fox Films production, "The First Year," now playing at the New Bijou Theatre. When the picture was seen for the first time yesterday it established a new record. It is far and away the funniest camera.

The picture comes to the screen with the reputation of being the cleverest comedy drama ever presented on the American stage. The celluloid descendant of the John Golden footlight hit is going to entertain thousands more than the original version. Aside from the fact that the story itself is exuberantly funny, the producers have invested it with a cast of prime favorites. Matt Moore, Kathryn Perry, John Patrick, Frank Currier, Virginia Madison, Margaret Livingston, Carolyn Snowdon and J. Farrell MacDonald are all members of the star line-up.

"The First Year" refers of course to the first trying period of married life, a period of disillusionment popularly conceived as tragic but now shown by the makers of this hilarious film to be supremely comic. From first to last the picture is a series of laughable situations that hold the audience in a good natured mood. The production is a masterpiece of humor. If you don't respond to every bit of it you are smile-proof. It makes no difference whether you are old or young, married or single—"The First Year" is your picture. You'll love it and then you'll want to do all your friends a favor by recommending it to them.

CALL FOR BIDS ON PARK WORK

Will Spend Over $60,000 in Making Beauty Spot Out of Pierce Park

Appleton park board will advertise for bids at once for extensive improvements contemplated for Pierce park. It was decided at a meeting Monday afternoon in Appleton State bank over $60,000 will be spent in beautifying the park into one of the most attractive recreation spots in the Fox river valley. There will be available for this work a bond issue of $50,000 and a surplus from last year amounting to between $10,000 and $15,000, according to B. J. Zuehlke of the park board.

The contemplated improvements include: the erection of a spacious dance pavilion, building of sidewalks and roadways, planting of shrubbery, establishment of comfort stations below the dance pavilion and other minor improvements in beautifying the tract. The work will be started as soon as a suitable bid has been accepted.

OHIO SYMPHONY TO HONOR BEETHOVEN

Cincinnati—(AP)—With a season of Beethoven's music the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra's fall concert will commemorate the centenary of the great master's death.

Its program will be featured by eight of Beethoven's symphonies and his triple concerto. The ninth symphony was rendered last season.

On the night of March 26, when Beethoven will have been dead one hundred years, the symphony will produce the Beethoven opera, "Fidelio."

The cast will be selected from the foremost of grand opera stars.

Fritz Reiner, conductor, will open the season in September. Toledo, Cleveland and Washington will be visited by the orchestra for the first time in several years. The symphony also will return to New York, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, Dayton and other cities.

SECOND DISTRICT BOARD HAS MEETING

Sour Stomach
"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drug store. adv.

JURORS FAIL TO AGREE IN TRIAL OF MENASHA BOY

Jury Disagrees on Guilt of Clarence Zabrowski in Burglary Case

Menasha—Chief of Police James H. Leiman, who attended the trial of Clarence Zabrowski, a term in the reformatory for burglary of a store in Menasha, received a message from Sheriff Gore at 10:30 Monday night that the jury had disagreed. The case went to the jury at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Only two witnesses were sworn by the state and six by the defense. The first witness for the state was Louis Blinder of Appleton, who operated the store in which the robbery took place. He testified that on the night of April 13 or on the morning of April 14, his store was looted of merchandise valued at $179.64.

The next witness was Police Officer George Resch of the Menasha police department. He testified he knew the defendant and had worked with him in a hay field only a year or so ago. On the night of the robbery, he said, he tried to force the door of the store and finding it unlocked, opened it, flashing his electric lamp as he did so. Just inside of the door, he said, stood the defendant, who asked the officer not to "pinch" him, saying that he could not stand another "pinch."

The officer said he took the suspect by the arm, but that he broke his grasp and ran away in the darkness. The defendant was the first witness for the defense. He said at the age of 13 years he served a term in the reformatory school and at 15 was sentenced to the state reformatory. He served 22 months in the army during the world war, seven of which were in the front line trenches. He denied having committed the burglary.

Mrs. Sabrowski and Miss Grace Leeder, a roomer at the Zabrowski home, both testified that the defendant arrived home shortly after 11 o'clock and went to bed after eating a light lunch. Other witnesses examined included John H. Strang, superintendent of John Strang Paper company, who testified that Zabrowski, who is in his employ, worked on the night in question until 10:57.

SCHNELLER IS PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE ALUMNI

Class of 1876 Awarded Attendance Trophy at Annual Commencement Dinner

The class of '76, represented by Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Houghton of Milwaukee and Mrs. Van Troop of Massachusetts, was awarded the alumni trophy at the banquet given Saturday night at First Methodist church for alumni of Lawrence college. The trophy is awarded each year to the class having the largest attendance in proportion to its living members.

A luncheon was served at noon at Brookway hall to about 50 alumni. Following the luncheon the annual business meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. room at Brookway hall. The class of 1926 was initiated and officers for the coming year were elected. Frank Schneller of Neenah was selected president. Mrs. Wilson S. Naylor and Herbert Parley, vice presidents. Three directors are elected each year to serve three years on the board of directors. Those elected this year were Frank Schneller of Neenah, George Baldwin of Appleton and Paul Vincent of Stevens Point. The secretary and treasurer hold office until 1928. Miss Ruth Saecker of Appleton is secretary and C. D. Thompson of Appleton is treasurer. Anders P. Anderson of Appleton is alumni secretary.

Reports were given at the business meeting by the alumni secretary and by the committee on the Zella Anne Smith Memorial fund. Impromptu speeches were given by Frank W. Houghton of the class of '76 and Best Dinsdale of the class of '75.

The alumni attended the reception given by President and Mrs. Henry M. Wriston following the business session. A banquet was served to 150 persons Saturday evening at First Methodist church. Harvey C. Logan of Milwaukee acted as toastmaster. The Rev. J. Scott Davis of Milwaukee gave a toast for alumni. Dr. A. Trevor of Appleton spoke for the faculty, George Christensen spoke for the senior class and Dr. Wriston spoke for the administration.

Mrs. Wilson S. Naylor was chairman of the luncheon committee. Miss Ruth Sandborn was chairman of the banquet committee assisted by Mrs. Harriet Nicholson and Miss Margaret Ritchie.

Mrs. George Deml, who had been confined at St. Elizabeth hospital for the past two weeks with an infected finger, was moved to her home at 509 N. Richmond-st. Monday.

Mrs. J. L. Johns returned home Tuesday from Algoma where she attended a party given Saturday afternoon by her mother, Mrs. Samuel Neuman.

PETERSON GETS $50 FOR WINNING ESSAY

Neenah—Gordon Peterson won the $50 prize offered by Mrs. Helen Stuart to high school seniors writing the best essay on "What American Citizenship Means to Me." FIVE NEENAH BOYS SIGN UP FOR TRAINING CAMP

Neenah—Roy Casperson, Joly Darrow, Albert Foster, Frank Scheller and Howard Busch, high school boys, have enrolled in the Citizens' military training camp which will be conducted between Aug. 3 to Sept. 1 in Fort Sheridan, Ill. Neenah's enlistments are in honor of Coach George Christoph and Frank J. Schneller.

Have You Got yours?

Reductions on O-Cedar Mops and a new one at 50c. Now is the time to buy. Only O-Cedar could produce such a mop at such a price. All the famous O-Cedar features; triangle shaped and padded swab, fits into corners and won't dent. Light weight. Broad covering surface. At your dealer's now.

Kills Pesky Bed-Bugs

Doctors declare that bed-bugs and other vermin are the most to be feared means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no disgrace in getting bed-bugs in your home because they can't be avoided. But it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound P.D.Q., which quickly puts an end to these pesky devils.

A Million Bed-bugs
A 35-cent package of this golden chemical will make a quart of a mixture that is so deadly to bed-bugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. Instantly it smother and annihilates the living creatures, coats their eggs and stops them from hatching and multiplying.

Cut This Out
Your druggist has P.D.Q. and will be glad to furnish it for 35 cents. One package makes a quart of the mixture and is equal to a barrel of old-fashioned kerosene. Don't accept a substitute. If your druggist hasn't P.D.Q. write O'Brien Co., Terre Haute, Ind., sending us your name and 50 cents and we will send you a package postage prepaid to your address.

Will Not Damage Goods
P.D.Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper or woodwork. In fact, it is often used as a deodorizer and disinfectant.

Kills Fleas on Dogs
If your pet dog is infested with fleas take a little P.D.Q. mixture in your hand and rub them on the fur. Then watch the fleas move. They will be dead before they hit the floor.

Moths
Very simple to rid these pests from furs or clothing. Just follow the directions on each package. Inexpensive for moths to exist with the proper use of P.D.Q. A treatment of garments will prevent moths for two years.

For Ants and Cockroaches
Ants and cockroaches stand no chance of surviving a treatment of P.D.Q. It attacks them and their eggs with such force that it kills their whole generation.

P.D.Q. in Liquid Form
P.D.Q. can be purchased in sealed bottles double strength liquid form, with patent sprayer. P.D.Q. Liquid can be diluted to make a quart of it can be used pure.

P.D.Q. is marketed in two style packages. Liquid form, ready for use and P.D.Q. Dry form, 35c. Each package makes one quart. Get P.D.Q. from your druggist today. Your money back if the bugs are not gone tomorrow.

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The young advertising agency of GRAHAM AND MILBURN lands an important new contract and JOHN and FAY MILBURN, to whom a baby girl has just been born, think they are justified in buying a home of their own.

John, a romantic and impractical individual, is a partner in the agency and does all its copy writing. The other partner is NATHANIEL GRAHAM.

Previous chapters tell how John, while Fay was in the hospital, accepted an invitation from PAT FORBES, a married man with three children, to attend a swimming party. There he met NELL OMBE and was attracted by her beauty. Pat Forbes tells him Nell is having trouble with her husband and later hints that he is somewhat dissatisfied with his own marriage.

To John, who has been married only two years, this is a little hard to understand. A little later he refuses an invitation from PAUL DAVIDSON, a lawyer, amateur actor and libertine, to go on a wild party.

Shortly after the Milburns are settled in their new home, they give a housewarming, and invite many of their friends. After several drinks have been served the conversation veers to marriage and Paul Davidson makes the surprising assertion that marriage is nothing but a relic of barbarism.

GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XII
"I mean it," Paul continued, drawing. "Civilization used to be very simple. Men lived in caves, and when they wanted a mate they went to a club, knocked a woman on the head and dragged her in."

"That was all very well," he went on, gesturing with his cigarette holder, "because when he got tired of her he could walk away and forget her and some other one on the head with a club. Fine, but what did the women do?"

"They got a headache," put in an quickly, and everyone laughed, except Davidson, who went on, patiently ignoring the interruption:

"What did the women do? They sat together and convinced their husbands that what they needed was a marriage law. The men fell for it, thinking that with such a law they could keep other men from stealing their women. But what they were doing was putting a ball and chain on themselves. Women from time immemorial have had a majority of the brains. That's why they never needed clubs."

"Do you mean to say, you've never heard of women's clubs?" asked Noel Boyd incorrigibly, and Vera said, "If my husband is gully of another one of his horrible puns, I'll take him right home."

"Don't pay any attention to Paul," Fay remarked quietly. "He just makes speeches to hear himself talk."

"He has got a lovely voice," jeered Eleanor Mason, and Margaret Wayne said, "Why, the flappers simply go crazy about him. On the stage he's a regular matinee idol."

But Davidson withstood their banter unmoved. "I have spoken," he said dramatically, as with a delicate movement he flicked the ash off his cigarette.

"The first thing we know," put in Margaret Forbes, Paul will be running off and getting married. You know the kind, Fay, they get smitten all of a sudden."

"Not if I'm sober," rejoined Paul. "Despite all advice to the contrary," said Dick Menfee, smiling. "Margaret and I are going to venture it. Aren't we?" he asked, turning to her.

She nodded, and Pat Forbes threw up his hands in mock despair. "You know what my father told me when I asked his advice about getting married?" he said. "He told me: 'Well, whether you do or whether you don't you'll be making a mistake.'"

"In other words," John put in, "there are only two courses of action, and both of them are wrong. However, don't let them kid you, Dick. You see," he said, turning to the others, "I'm going to be Dick's best man."

"What's the date, Dick?" asked Nat Graham.

"The fifteenth of October," "Beware the Ides of October," said Davidson in a dramatically trembling voice.

"Aren't you, Clara?" Dick asked. "I think Clara's going to have an announcement of some sort soon turning to Margaret's younger sister."

"You don't mean to tell me you're engaged, Clara?" exclaimed Fay. Clara blushed. Hadn't you noticed the ring?" She held up her hand.

"This is too much," sighed Pat Forbes. "John, I need another drink."

"All right, Pat," said John. "Who's the man, Clara? Is he a Appleton man?"

"I can't tell you who it is yet," said Clara. "At least, I won't tell you who it is until I bring him here for you to meet him. He's from Milwaukee. He's in the brokerage business there."

"Well, why all the mystery?" grumbled Forbes. "Come on, John, get me that drink."

"Come out in the kitchen," whispered John. "and I'll serve something with a little more authority." He managed to gather the men together and herd them into the kitchen where he produced a bottle of whiskey.

"Don't I get any?" came a plaintive voice from the doorway, and there was Eleanor Mason. "This is strictly stag," Eleanor Mason; get out of here," ordered Pat Forbes.

"Don't I get Nat Graham's share?" she pleaded in a childish voice. "Oh well, if you can stand it I guess we can," said John. He poured her a drink and Nat Graham looked on disapprovingly as she drained her glass with the men.

"Well, you tank, have you had enough?" Noel Boyd asked her rudely as she set her glass down and made a wry face. "Beat it now, I want to tell a story."

"Why, I think you're horrid. Noel Boyd!" she cried. She turned on her heel laughingly and left the room. "Only way you can handle Eleanor is to treat her rough," explained Noel with his sneering smile, when she was gone.

"What do you think of Clara getting married, Dick?" asked Paul, and Pat Forbes commented, "Whoever he is, he'll have to have plenty of money to afford Clara. Excuse me, Dick," he added hastily, "if I seem to be talking about your future sister-in-law, I mean it, though. He'll need the dough to keep Clara in clothes."

Did you notice the outfit she had on tonight? Cloth of gold, or whatever you call it. I know. I bought one of 'em—once."

"They had another drink and adjourned to the living room. The women, under Fay's guidance, were about to make an inspection tour of the new house, and the men, all except Dick Menfee, who had seen it and Paul Davidson, who accused Fay of "domestic propaganda," joined them.

When they returned, Fay proposed bridge. "We've enough for three tables," but only four of them were ambitious enough to play. They were Eleanor Mason, Noel Boyd, Davidson and John, and they played for a quarter of a cent a point. Noel and Paul winning most of the money.

At one o'clock Nat Graham began to glance at his watch, and at one-thirty the guests departed. Eleanor Mason chattering volubly and shaking her blond head violently. "Guess she's had one too many," whispered Pat Forbes to John as he left.

"Well, dear," John said to Fay as they were retiring, "you certainly had a nice party. How many times did you have to go to Judith?"

"Only once. She's as good as gold—always on schedule."

"She changed the subject. 'What was Eleanor Mason doing out in the kitchen with you men?'"

"She came out there to get a 'tank. Why?"

"I think she has a lot of nerve."

"Let of nerve? What do you mean?" he asked, surprised. "And I think you had a lot to do to stand out there and talk with her."

"Well, good Lord, Fay! You don't blame me for what Eleanor Mason does, do you? She asked for a drink and I gave it to her. Then she left."

"Well," said Fay, "I don't like her."

"What's the matter with her? She's all right."

"Oh, of course, you'd say she was all right," she flared at him suddenly. "You never do agree with me. I'm always wrong."

"Well, I'm a son of a gun," he complained. "For goodness sake, Fay, don't be so crabby."

"She's entirely too forward," Fay went on. "And besides, I think Nat Graham is a regular kill-joy."

"Well, I agree with you there," he began, but she cut him short. "Of course, you would. Nat Graham's a man, and Eleanor Mason's a girl."

He turned away from her with a despairing sigh and pretended sleep.

John was late getting down to the office the next day, and he found Nat Graham there ahead of him, looking as cool and efficient as ever.

"Well," John asked him, "have a good time last night?"

"Fine," said Nat shortly, and added, "By the way, who is this Eleanor Mason I took home last night? What does she do?"

"Oh, I don't know exactly. She's a sort of publicity specialist and also takes a fling at fiction now and then. Peddles a story to the magazines once in a while. Pretty clever sort of girl."

"I think," said Nat slowly, "she needs a good spanking." His mouth set in a stern line, and his eyes, with their hood-like lids, stared past John.

Milburn looked at him queerly. "Yes," he said finally. "I guess she does." He said nothing more, but went over to his desk and spent the rest of the morning in silent work.

When he went home that evening, feeling dissatisfied with the world in general, Fay told him of the first neighbor's call.

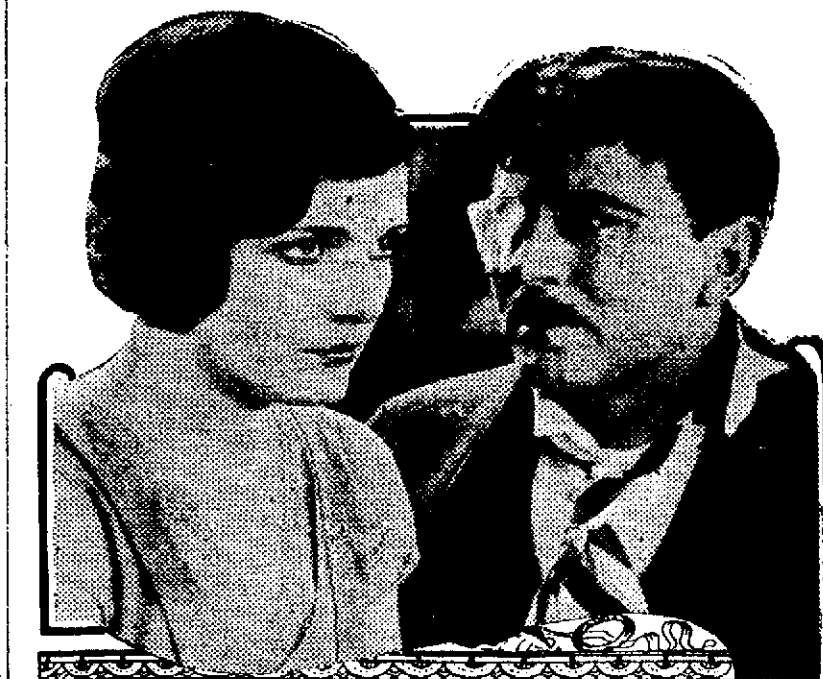

"She lives across the street. Her name is Blodgett—Mrs. Henry Blodgett. She said her husband was one of the officials in a bank downtown. He's in the loan department. I think she said."

"Well, what was she like? What did you think of her?" John asked. Fay made a wry face. "She looked like a sour-faced old snoop. She only stayed ten minutes, but I'll bet she knows every piece of furniture I've got downstairs."

"Well," laughed John, "what did she say?"

"Oh, the usual thing. Glad to have us for neighbors and invited us to call. She wanted to know what business you were in, and I told her."

"Lord!" groaned John. "Another Mrs. Bixby—I know it."

The days passed swiftly—busy days for John and happy ones for Fay, who was getting a large-sized

"kick" out of rolling Judith around in her new carriage. It was August, and Judith was two months old.

Fay returned the call Mrs. Blodgett had made, she told John, and one evening when he came home she broke an unusual quiet spell at dinner to say, fiercely, "I wish people would mind their own business and let other people take care of theirs."

"Why, what's the matter now, Fay?"

"Oh, it's that Mrs. Blodgett again. Clara and Margaret Wayne dropped in this afternoon and I gave them some tea. They smoked, of course—you know Margaret and Clara—and just as they were leaving, Mrs. Blodgett called. She saw the remains of the cigarettes on the tea table, and I could almost see her sniff. Now I suppose I'll get a reputation as an inveterate smoker, and you know I scarcely touch them."

"Just as I had congratulated myself on shaking one old prune," John complained. "We seem to have acquired another. Damn!"

"She bids fair to be worse than Mrs. Bixby," Fay told him. "She looks actually malicious. I do hope she doesn't get hold of the rumor Mrs. Bixby circulated about us."

SEND PARENTS CAMP LETTERS

Y. M. C. A. Trying to Interest Fathers and Mothers in Sending Boys to Onaway

Final letters telling about the camp at Onaway Island, Waupaca, from July 1 to 15, for boys of Appleton, were sent out to parents Saturday by the camp committee of the Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices it is being held. All local applications for the camp must be in this week, after which it will be thrown open to boys of the neighboring cities.

The island has been rented by the local association for the primary purpose of giving boys of Appleton a camp at reasonable fees, according to John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. It is run on a strictly cost basis with no extra expenses so that it must be filled to capacity each period. It is an opportunity for the parent to give the boy a worth-while vacation without much cost, Mr. Pugh said. Next week Appleton boys will not be able to get in.

Parents who are interested are urged to let Mr. Pugh know and he will send or bring them camp folders telling about the vacation. He also will call and explain the camp personally on request. W. E. Smith is chairman of the camp committee and other members are Mr. Pugh, A. P. Jensen, A. C. Remley and Robert Wood. Mr. Wood, Armin Gerhardt and H. F. Heilig, members of the faculties of local schools, will be in the camp as leaders. An effort also is being made to get R. M. Eickmeyer, new business secretary at the local association to act as physical director. Mr. Eickmeyer is a college athlete and has participated in sports at Yale from where he will graduate late in June. He is to assume his duties here on July 15 but an effort will be made to get him to come to Appleton two weeks earlier to take charge of the camp work.

Trapped by a human wolf—

WHEN Margy fell in love with Eldon Keith at college, she did not know that he was very wise regarding the ways of women, or she might have suspected something was wrong when he insisted that they leave college and marry at once. Had she only listened to the wise counsel of those who really loved her!

Swept off her feet by his tempestuous love-making—she yielded to the entreaties of her sweetheart—and one night they quietly slipped away—on the road, as she believed, to an Eden of Romance.

But as Margy looks back now on the tragic consequences of her folly she wants to cry out a warning to girls and their parents everywhere.

Her story, "The Lair of the Wolf," appears complete in True Story Magazine for July. Don't miss this gripping, heart-throbbing feature.

Other Thrilling True-Life Narratives in the July True Story are:

"Buried in the Heart"—Doreen knew Gordon Stuart was married. But there was something about him she could not resist—until one day she found herself in a terrible situation.

"Repent at Leisure"—A whirlwind romance—a sudden and secret marriage! It sounds very exciting—or so Nora thought. Repentance came too late. A true story that will wring your heart.

"The Letter and the Rose"—What would you do if you found a love letter from a strange woman addressed to your husband? Read what happened to the girl who writes this gripping, heart-throbbing narrative.

Prominent Minister Praises True Story Magazine

Gentlemen: Carthage, Texas, April 17, 1926.

As a father and a minister of the Gospel I believe that Macfadden is a trade-mark of cleanliness and wholesomeness in life and literature. I have read much of his publications and have found the sunshine of life in them all.

I feel sure that nothing will appear in the pages of "True Story" magazine that could bring a blush to the most innocent maiden's cheek. Let young men and women read the Gospel of life, with its pitfalls and tragedies; then point out the right way and they will turn to the right every time, unless mentally diseased.

Without the slightest hesitation I am delighted to recommend "True Story" magazine to parents—its moral tone is magnificent.

Sincerely yours,
Henry E. Summers, M.D., Th.D.

PITTSBURGH'S GREATEST CHARITY BAZAAR

This Evening Will See the Stage Set for the greatest Charity Bazaar Ever Given in Pittsburgh

Commencing next Monday evening at the Coliseum, the Charity Bazaar given by the Orthopedic Hospital will open at eight o'clock and will continue afternoons and evenings throughout the week.

As has been announced before, the gorgeous pearls that belonged to Mrs. Karl Whitney, and which have been given by Mr. Whitney in memory of his wife, to the Orthopedic Hospital to be sold for its benefit, will be on display all the time.

This magnificent gift is only a part, however, of the many wonderful donations that have been made to the bazaar.

During the week these pearls have been estimated by Tiffany's pearl experts and it has been found that they are worth much more than a half million dollars.

Mrs. John Graves Hamilton has already offered a half million dollars for them, if no one else bids that much for the jewels. It is whispered, however, that a New York financier has already offered the required half million and stands ready to raise his offer until the pearls are his.

Miss Paula Perier, the popular motion picture actress, will be presented during the last three afternoons and evenings of the bazaar and she is bringing from New York, where she is at present a wonderful diamond bracelet which is her gift to the Orthopedic Hospital.

Miss Perier also has made a magnificent offer for the necklace if the committee decides not to sell the pearls as a collection.

There is a very romantic story being told about town in connection with these jewels. It is well known that the pearls that will be sold at the bazaar were left to Mrs. John Alden Prescott by her sister, Mrs. Karl Whitney, at the time of her tragic death. Mrs. Prescott has never worn them and finally she decided that she would sell her entire collection because of the tragic memory that encircled it.

"I think it's much better," she told the reporter, "that I leave this money under a deed of trust to my two boys."

Adventures Of The Twins

THE BARREL FAIRY

"I do wonder if Mr. Snoopy stole my shadow," said the little Rag-bag Whiffet, as he and the Twins continued their journey.

"I shouldn't wonder," said a voice. And without any warning at all, a barrel started to roll along beside them.

"Who are you?" cried the Twins, who remembered the story about the wolf and the little pig and how the little pig crawled into a churn and rolled the whey away to Franklin Bay.

"I'm just a barrel fairy," said the voice. "I have no home and I live in a barrel. As I have rheumatism in one of my wings and can't fly, I just roll my barrel around. Do you mind if I go a little way with you? I get very lonesome."

"Certainly not," said Nick. "We'd like to have you."

So they all walked along and along and along, and the barrel fairy rolled himself along and along and along, and pretty soon they came to a steep hill. "Dear me!" cried the barrel fairy. "I can't get up this steep hill! And I do want to go with you. I'm so lonesome and everything."

"Oh, that's all right," said Nick. "Don't you worry! You must be pretty light if you're a fairy, and Nancy and I can carry you up. Nancy, you lift one end of the barrel, and I'll lift the other, and the little Whiffet can push from underneath."

"Well, then I'll be ever and ever so

PHI KAPPA ALPHA WINS BLUE SPORT COMPETITION

South-st Frat Piles Up 685 Points To Beat Out D. I. For Championship

1926 Competition Is Marked Success for Denney's Inter-mural Program.

Taking first places in four of the eight events on the program of the interfraternity competition of Lawrence college and adding three seconds in the remaining four, Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity, South-st, took the 1926 interfrat athletic title with 685 points. The contest ran the entire school year and closed last week. It was a part of Athletic Director A. C. Denney's sports program for every man and was tried to an extensive degree for the first time this year with great success. Every fraternity on the campus participated in the all-around program which included basketball, horseshoe, baseball, golf, bowling, tennis, volleyball and football.

The Phi Kaps will receive a 3-foot silver trophy which will be presented at the interfraternity council banquet Tuesday evening at Hotel Northern. The Delta Delta fraternity finished second with 561.6 points and the Beta Sigma Phi group third with 399. The rest finished in the following order:

Sigma Phi Epsilon, fourth, 147.4; Phi Kappa Tau, fifth, 100; Theta Phi, sixth, 75; Delta Sigma Tau and Psi Chi Omega, seventh, 70 points each. The Phi Kaps took first in basketball, horseshoe, baseball and bowling, the baseball practically deciding the cup when the winners beat the second-place D. I. crew in the final game for the title. The Phi Kaps also took seconds in bowling, foul throwing and tennis. The D. I. men were first in bowling and tennis and in volleyball, tied for second in basketball and third in horseshoe. The Betas took a first in volleyball and the Sig Eps took the remaining first in foul throwing.

SUNDAY GAMES
Wrightstown 11, Depere 1.
Onida 1, Freedom 1.
L. Chute-C. Locks Specials (no game, rain.)

Wrightstown went into a solitary lead in the intercounty baseball loop as the result of the third games of the season played Sunday. Onida gave the Brown-co. crew its chance by running Freedom, tied for the top, 7-1. The Indians had won their first game and lost by one score last week and their strong comeback raised them to a tie for the second rung with their victim, Freedom. Wrightstown, meanwhile, walloped the Depere crew, 11-1. The Little Chute-C. Locks Specials tilt was called because of rain. This game went 1 1/2 innings with Pagan and Miron forming the Locks battery and Stegeman and Dix toiling for the Chutes.

Leaders battle tailenders next Sunday and all are favorites unless the dope is badly upset by one of the evenly-matched crews. Onida invades Wrightstown and Freedom invades Wrightstown entertains Combined Losses.

Baltimore—Young Bob Fitzsimmons and Bob Roper were halted by referee in third after warnings against stalling.

Lima, Ohio—Jake Gross, Lima, and Al Volcast, Cadillac, Michigan, boxed a draw (15).

JOCK HUTCHISON—CORRECTING SLICE
The best and surest way to avoid slicing is to learn how it is accomplished by the expert. I advised one of my pupils to do this once, and it put the matter to him in such a clear light that he never forgot it. I asked him to slice a ball for me intentionally. Mind you, he had been doing this very thing day in and day out. He stood on the tee, bewildered for a moment, then shifted his stance and grip to something entirely different from what he had ever tried. Much to his surprise, the ball flew straight as an arrow.

I showed him where he was in error. He tried again, and this time he took his natural stance, and, with his regular way of hitting the ball, he sliced as prettily as one could wish to see.

I explained to him that he had learned the secret quite easily, but he insisted that this was the way he always stood and the way he always played. And this, I added, is why you always slice.

It was easy to convince him then that he had been in the dark for a long time. Any good teacher could have set him right in a few minutes.

BLUES LOSE ONLY 4 "L" MEN OF 1926

Prospects of one of the strongest athletic years in some time if all the under graduates athletics return next year, were promised by the graduation of the class of 1926 of Lawrence college Monday morning. Only four lettermen will leave the school through graduation, records show. The men are: Carvel Clapp, Elsworth, track; Oza Premo, Ashland, football; Robert Stair, Mineral Point, track; John Zussman, Appleton, football and basketball. Clapp was inactive in track this year. Zussman is the only two-letterman to graduate. Edward Kotol and Roger Ashman also may be lost to Blue squads next year. Kotol is a three-sport man and Ashman, two.

Wednesday—Meyer Press vs Legion Friday—Interlakes vs Y. M. C. A.

No changes were made in the Twilight Softball loop standings by Monday evening's game as the Bankers and Post-Crescent crew battled seven innings to a 4-4 tie and then the game was called by rain. In the first half of the eighth, the Bankers scored but the half-inning was not completed. Two important games are booked for the remainder of the week with Wednesday's being the class of the bunch. The American Legion and Meyer Press squads, tied with the P-C men for the top clash, cutting one crew from the first-place tie for the present. The Legion with Graef in the box is the favorite though "Speedball" Colvin is the Printer's mound choice. On Friday the Interlakes and John Carter took up the burden. While La Rose was going he fanned five men in five innings a goodly feat for softball. The P-C men scored once in the first and again in the fourth but in the fifth a Bank rally tied the count. In the last half of the fifth Hartzell crew took two more but the Wissman tied it again in the sixth when La Rose took to the showers. Neither team scored in the seventh and in the eighth the game was called.

LaRose and Carter allowed the Bankers only three hits, all off the fourer, but walks and errors aided the Wissman men. McKenzies put two of the 1-3's and 2-3's on the board. The P-C men hit Poter and King. The P-C men hit Wissman's shots for six hits and also were aided by walks and errors. Each of the P-C hits was made by a different man with Starnard, Bates, McKel and Hartzell scored runs. Eggert lined were.

BADGER GOLFERS IN BIG TEN TOURNAMENTS

Chicago—(AP)—Eight varsity teams have entered the Western Conference golf championships here Friday and Saturday, which conclude the spring program of Big Ten sports. Minnesota, which dropped golf last year, and Iowa, have not filed but participation of the two best schools expected. The Chicago club will defend its individual championship and Northwestern will seek to retain the team title.

HOLMES WINS BLUE HORSESHOE TITLE

John Holmes, New London, a sophomore, was crowned Lawrence college all-campus horseshoe pitching champ for 1926 Monday when he topped the final match in the title series from Professor F. W. Clippinger. The Sigma Phi Epsilon star beat the mentor, 50-41, 50-45. Three other men—Schlesinger, Kachi and Connell—were eliminated in the semi-finals last week by the finalists.

11 "A" WINNERS LOST TO ORANGE BY GRADUATION

Several Others Not Expected to Play Next Year or Are Nine-semester Students

When the class of 1926 graduated from Appleton high school last week, 11 lettermen of the school finished their athletic careers. The Orange football and basketball squads were both had by the graduation although a large number of letter men will return for football. Only one track man left the school but he was ineligible for further competition so that the loss cannot be counted.

The cage squad lost four lettermen who played this year through graduation when Arthur McCanna, Carl Voecks, Max Knip and Captain Robert Ashman received their sheepskins. Two more men Al and Frank Cookson do not expect to return to the school leaving only Pfeiffer, Steinberg and Sprutz for a 1927 nucleus. Another cage letterman that graduated last week was Elmer Reetz who won his A as a regular guard on the 1925 squad. He was a nine-semester man this year.

In football six 1925 lettermen were lost to next fall's squad. They included Capt. Edward Steenis, Ashman, Packard, Schultz, Voecks and Wolfgram. All linemen, leaving four 1926. Two other men, Kitzinger and Frieders, quarters and halfbacks, also become ineligible as nine-semester men and Uebelacher, star center, may not play next fall. Three other graders, all nine-semester men this year, but letter-winners in 1924, graduated. They were Elmer Reetz, Paul Gelbo, and Elmer Stammer, all halfbacks. Stammer also is a letterman at track.

Of the graduates, four have won two letters in different sports. Voecks, Ashman and Reetz making the grade on the grid and court, and Stammer on the grid and track.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Koll, Appleton lad, who was such a cage wizard for Ossie Koski's Kimberley-Clark Athletics, winners of five titles last winter, is showing that he is a versatile athlete. He went out for baseball, but because of his lack of age and experience he was kept on the bench in valley loop games where old leaders as Lamer, Smith, Chief Williams, Sanders, and Noel performed. He was given a chance Sunday, however, against the champion, and at that time undefeated Bays. He led his squad at bat, getting three-hits in five appearances at the platter. Nice going for a starter.

The little town of New Holston a few miles from here is becoming famous as the home of star weightlifter. It produces any more like the present crop, colleges and universities of the country will be sending scouts there. Bob Hipke, 1927, Lawrence track captain, the man who broke the state record in the shotput and placed second in the Midwest meet at a poorer mark than his record here, came from there. Fred Schildauer, new Beloit track mentor who succeeds Coach Ospeod also came from there. Schildauer was the star weightman of the University of Illinois for two years. The Blue leader and the new Gold coach will have a chance to talk over "old home town" stuff when they meet at the Midwest games next year.

APPLETON ACES WIN FROM HORTONVILLE

The Appleton Aces defeated the Hortonville city baseball team, 11-2, in a game on a wet field. The game was stopped several times by slight showers but the rival crews managed to play five innings in which time Appleton scored 11 times. Sunday the Aces will play Shawano at Shawano and a number of local fans are expected to make the trip. Cars to take one or two of the players also would be appreciated by the Ace manager.

Illinois Jockey Club Revives American Derby

Invested with all of the pomp and glory, all of the sentiment and gaiety of bygone years, the historic American Derby will be revived in its thirteenth running July 10 at Washington Park Race Course, during the thirty-one day meeting of the Illinois Jockey Club, beginning July 3.

Eighty of the greatest three-year-olds in the world, including Carls and Rubbing Over, have been entered for the event, which carries with it the largest purse ever offered in the history of horse racing—$100,000, and what to some will be even more—the magnificent trophy, the honor and the glory.

Time was when the world famous Kentucky Derby was only a feeder for the American Derby at Chicago, always staged about two months after the Kentucky event. Highball won the last running in 1914.

Exclusive of Sundays there will be three one-day races, of which the minimum daily purse will be $1,200. And there will also be six great stake races, with added money ranging from $5,000 to $100,000.

These will be run on the five Saturdays of the meeting, and the fifth of July—Monday, on which July fourth will be celebrated. Chicago will see the debutante stake

BREWERS WIN 14TH IN ROW; TAKE A. A. LEAD

Milwaukee—Stepping on the stumbling blocks for their fourteenth consecutive triumph at Athletic park Monday afternoon, the Brewers of Jack Leive swung in to the lead of the American association, the first time they have held the top rung this year. The score was 7 to 1 and the succession of victories ties the league record of Louisville, set last year.

The change in leadership was made possible by the Columbus victory over the champion Cottons, who have won one more game than the Home Brews but have also lost one more, giving Milwaukee a lead of six points in the percentage column. A crowd of 2,500 saw the contest.

DETROIT DEALT BLOW BY BASSLER INJURY

Detroit was dealt a serious blow when Johnny Bassler was injured in a game against Cleveland the other day. The star Tiger catcher broke his left leg in sliding into first and will be out for several weeks. Besides doing the bulk of the catching, Bassler had been hitting hard.

ATHLETICS TURN IN 21 ASSISTS ON NATS

Connie Mack's Athletics turned in 21 assists in a game with Washington the other day. Jimmy Dykes, third base, led off with Second Base man Bishop getting five. It was quite a busy afternoon for the A's.

Regarding the broad jump, it will be recalled it was at the same meet last year Delart Hubbard established his remarkable record of 25 feet, 10 1/2 inches. This season the leapers have done well to pass the 24-foot point. So Hubbard's effort looks quite secure for the present.

Barnes, unexpectedly defeated by Sabin Carr of Yale at the I. C. A-A carnival, will endeavor to redeem himself here. Barnes, as you know, fell down badly at Cambridge. Carr winning all "cat" and several notches before Barnes' best vault.

The high and broad jumps will be closely contested, as will the middle distance races. No new records are likely in any of these events, however. That is, no world marks, though some N. C. A. A. performances may be bettered.

4 BADGER STARS ENTER NATIONAL TRACK TOURNEY

Chapman, McGinnis, Kreuz, Kennedy, Defend Cardinal; Shimek, M. U. Star, Also in

BY ART CARLSON
Chicago—Now comes the biggest offering on the 1926 college track and field program—the national intercollegiate jamboree.

This annual get-together, which marks the windup off the collegiate campaign and the last performance of many athletes for their alma mater, will be staged here June 11 and 12.

It's just about the piece de resistance of the entire season, bringing together the cream of the college athletic world—from the east, west, south and middle west.

This year's kind has fair to excel any of its kind staged in the past. It will be an all-feature clash. Every act will be a star one, as they say in theatrical circles.

Southern California, twice winner of the eastern intercollegiate, will trot out the great Houser, the famous Dye, the flashy Grumbles, and Barnes, Olympic pole vault champion, among others.

Michigan, two-time winner of the Western Conference title, will send in its sensational springing trio, Hester, Kelly and Leschinsky; the versatile Northrup, Hawkins, Doyle and so on.

Roland Locke, the "Nebraska Cyclone," will endeavor to hand out new marks in the 100 and 220 with any assistance from the wind; Johnny Kuck of Kansas State Teachers' College will compete in the shot and discus; Ray Wolf, Penna; Frank Cuhel, Iowa; Chick Werner, Illinois and George Guthrie, Ohio State, are down to clash with Dye and Grumbles in the hurdles.

The barrier events, by the way, stand out as big attractions. This is especially true of the lows, where Grumbles and Cuhel are likely to wage a bitter battle. Each has been clocked in close to record time in previous meets this season.

Wisconsin will bank on its brilliant two-miler, Victor Chapman, and on McGinnis, Kennedy and Kreuz. Anson and Irwin, along with Guthrie, will flaunt Ohio State's colors, while Burz and Cusack are Chicago's best bets.

Missouri has Richerson, one of the best weight men in the middle west, while from the south will come two North Carolinians, Houser in Lowrance Watt and Galen Elliott, Southern Conference champion in the low hurdles and mile, respectively.

Marquette will enter Melvin Shimek, a really great long-distance runner. Shimek capped the two-mile jog at the 1925 Big Ten meet and is running even stronger this season. He should handle Chapman and McGinnis, Kennedy and Kreuz.

There'll be plenty of keen competition in the shot and discus, with Houser, Kuck and Lyon, the latter representing Illinois, fighting it out. Houser and Kuck have both passed the 50-foot figure in putting the leaden pill and it wouldn't be at all surprising were one of them to long up a new record for the event.

The existing mark of 51 feet has withstood all assaults since 1909. It was established by the late Ralph Rose, a star at Michigan in his college days.

Northrup looks like a sure winner in the javelin. The Wolverine tossed the stick more than 207 feet at the recent Big Ten meet. Collections aren't hitting the 200-mark very often these days.

Barnes, unexpectedly defeated by Sabin Carr of Yale at the I. C. A-A carnival, will endeavor to redeem himself here. Barnes, as you know, fell down badly at Cambridge. Carr winning all "cat" and several notches before Barnes' best vault.

The high and broad jumps will be closely contested, as will the middle distance races. No new records are likely in any of these events, however. That is, no world marks, though some N. C. A. A. performances may be bettered.

Appleton Valley Loop Squad In Cellar Berth In Fielding With .888

Baetzmen Make 13 Errors in Four Games; Gosha Chief Offender With 5 Miscues

As in team batting, the Appleton ball club is on the bottom of the Fox River Valley loop in fielding, averages issued Tuesday show. This does not include Sunday's game. Appleton has a mark of .888, the only mark below .900. Oshkosh leads with .976 and Green Bay is second with .960. Up until Sunday three loop hurlers had perfect marks, but those of Vorhees of Fondy and LaCoste of Green Bay were wrecked by Appleton and Kimberley, leaving the veteran Bruce Noel who whipped the Baetzmen alone on top. LaCoste has three wins and a loss; Vorhees, Green Bay; Jensen, Fondy; and Pelker, Oshkosh have perfect marks for the catchers and Handier of Neenah is added in individual fielding of the backstops.

In the individual fielding, seven Appleton men are in the 1,000 class. Gosha comes in this group twice through his work as catcher and in the field and falls once at shortstop. Other locals in the class are Crowe and H. Tornow, hurlers; Baetz, second base; Bent, Priebke and Refklee, outfielders.

The Encyclopedia Of Opportunity

A general assortment of the world's knowledge is gathered together in the volumes of the encyclopedia.

No one thinks of sitting down and reading through all of them. They're simply there with their information on any subject—whenever anyone wants it.

You'll find a general assortment of the buying and selling and renting news of this city—opportunity and thrift news of all kinds—gathered together for you in the A-B-C Classified Section.

Very few readers take the time to go through all these little ads. But wide-awake people take a minute or so each day to glance through the classifications that particularly interest them.

Turning to any Classification is like taking down a volume of the encyclopedia—you'll find that its information is listed in alphabetical order, too!
